MORE POLITICAL BUNK

Among the many economic factories now being advanced by congressional leaders, one more
noted that the ideal government ownership and operation of public utility would be in the interest of the people and appliances especially to the electric industry, about which there is considerable political agitation at the moment.

years ago it required an average of 5 pounds of coal to generate a known hour of electricity, while at present only 10 pounds of coal are required.

That the savings effected by the use of modern equipment are reflected in rates charged the public.

Everyone knows the famous purchase and the legend French explorers and administrators who paved the way for its development.

After the first camp at Terre-ville, Herelle and others, including Louis XIV, "the grand monarque," for whom the territory was named.

She also feels that it would be deserved tribute to Lafayette, the French general of revolution.

It was Major L'Estrange who, at the request of Washington, who laid out our entire country, which includes the entire state of Florida in outline.

In view of these circumstances, it is somewhat unfortunate shooting is about.

The only explanation is that it just plain bunk.

FOUR MILES A MINUTE

A new automobile record was made recently in a record 14 days ago, when Captain Malcolm Campbell drove his racing car at the unprecedented speed of 210 miles per hour.

The record was set one hour faster than the former world's record held by the late Captain Segal.

The driving ability of travel at this terrific speed is of little practical value in itself, but it serves to illustrate the great advances in automobile engineering in recent years.

This new record of more than four miles a minute is almost twice the speed of the world's record.

The skill and daring of those who perform these extraordinary feats of speed can not fail to excite admiration, but conservative drivers will have little desire to imitate them.

Most people are satisfied to travel slower, with the probability of being overtaken by a faster vehicle.

The Icelandic sagas are the first of their kind, possessing qualities that are singularly lacking in the native literature of the north.

They are the product of a long
